STRAWBERRY PLANTS

WATSONVILLE, CAL.

Living in the center of the largest strawberry section in America, as a nurseryman, I have studied the strawberry very closely, and probably handle more plants than any other individual on the coast.

Our planters, outside of a few varieties of strawberries, will not use California grown plants, finding that the Oregon stock, going dormant in the winter, will outlast and outbear California stock, two to one. I usually contract for from one to three million plants with the best Oregon growers, and have personally inspected my fields this season and safely say that the stock is the best I have ever handled.

Owing to the dry season and other conditions our planters will not set as heavy as usual, leaving me with a heavy surplus to dispose of, which condition I desire to give you the benefit of.

In order to take advantage of this offer however, orders must be in before the last of November, so that stock can come down in my carload shipments. Prices are F. O. B. Watsonville.

Marshall (fine market berry)	$3.75 per M.
Oregon Improved	4.50 per M.
Maggoon	4.00 per M.
Gold Dollar (extra early)	4.00 per M.
Nick Ohmer	4.50 per M.
Malinda, Oregon grown	5.00 per M.
Malinda, Watsonville grown	4.00 per M.

The Malinda is the best allround berry in our section, a continual bearer from May to December, and all commercial planters plant a proportion of this variety.

I can furnish Marshall, Maggoon, Brandywine locally grown at lower rates.

I also have 100,000 Loganberry plants for delivery this season beside Mammoth Blackberries, Himalayas, Gooseberries, Improved Cuthbert and other Raspberries, Currants, Rhubarb, etc.

Respectfully yours,
